

FROM UNCONSCIOUS BIAS TO CONSCIOUS COMPASSION

Dorrier Underwood is committed to creating spaces where authentic, courageous conversations can happen. In this talk, Gary comes clean about how racism and bias show up in his own life. By sharing his own story, Gary opens the door to a new dialogue about racism, what can happen when we confront our own biases, and new moves to interrupt old thoughts and belief patterns.

“As a society, we continue to struggle with racism and how to talk about it. In this talk, I hope to shed light on the mechanics of racism from my own life and how I am working to overcome it.”

Gary Davis

A well-respected keynote and motivational speaker, Gary Davis is known for his insight, humor, and humanity. His business experience spans the fields of IT, banking and finance, real estate, and healthcare.

Before joining the Dorrier Underwood team in 2009, he worked for IBM and Cisco Systems in sales and delivery.

As a management consultant, Gary leads courses and retreats that empower teamwork, partnership, and accountability. He also works with senior leadership teams, sales producers, and interdisciplinary teams to enable them to achieve unprecedented results.

THE RIGHT SPEECH AT THE RIGHT TIME

contact: Ginny Brien at
VBrien@DorrierUnderwood.com